

To be “peacemakers” means that we create opportunities for reconciliation in our own lives and in that of others, on every level. In particular, we need to be reconciled with God, and then with those around us, in our family, at school, with friends, in the parish, in associations, in sports, in local and international relationships.

Therefore, it’s a very important way to love our neighbor. It is a great act of mercy that heals every relationship.

Peacemakers show that they are part of the family of God. They act like his children, they give witness to God and God established a certain order to society, which brings about peace for all people.

«...they will be called children of God». To receive a name means that you become what that name signifies.

We can be peacemakers if we have peace in our own heart. We have to be a peacemaker in the way we act every moment of the day. To do this, we need to live in harmony with God and his will.
