

"These sentences of the Gospel can show us how to live:

When we encounter another person?

"Love your neighbor as yourself" (cf Mt 22:39).

When we are suffering?

"If any want to become my followers, let them...take up their cross and follow me" (cf Mt 16:24).

"The words of Jesus will become a bright light for us and he will enter our lives with his truth, his power and his love.

We will live our life in an always greater union with him.

We will do everything together with him».

"Very truly, I tell you, whoever believes has eternal life" (Jn 6:47).

Commenting on this sentence of the Gospel, Chiara Lubich wrote:

"Jesus responds to the deepest need of the human heart. We have been created for a life that does not end and search for it with all our strength.

"But the biggest error we can make is to look for it in human beings, or in anything that has been created because all of these things are limited and passing. They cannot give a real answer to our aspirations.

2

"Jesus is the only one who can satisfy the hunger in the human heart. He alone can give us the life that does not end because he is Life itself."

(1)

Christian faith is above all the fruit of a personal encounter with God, with Jesus who wants nothing more than to have us participate in his own life.

Continuing her commentary, Chiara Lubich invites us to renew our choice of Jesus as the center of our life and to follow him in every moment.

"We know the way to do this. We have to be committed to putting his words into practice. We have to let his words guide us in every circumstance of life.
